Dr Jeremy Diamond

MB ChB, PhD, FRCS, FRCOphth, FRANZCO

Dr Jeremy Diamond is an internationally regarded ophthalmologist who offers care for a range of eye conditions and surgical procedures, including general eye health, all forms of glaucoma care, routine and complex cataract surgery with premium intraocular lenses, macular disease and neuro-ophthalmology.

Dr Diamond is recognised as one of the most experienced eye surgeons in the UK – over his career, he has performed more than 15,000 cataract and glaucoma surgeries. After his time in the UK, he relocated to Victoria with his Australian family, where he continues to provide world-class care.

BACKGROUND

Dr Diamond began his training at the General Hospital in Cheltenham. He then completed his fellowship training in glaucoma and anterior segment surgery at the Royal Perth Hospital before continuing to the world-renowned Bristol Eye Hospital. Here, he was appointed as a consultant in 1996, and then founded and ran the glaucoma department for 20 years.

Committed to ongoing excellence within the field of ophthalmology, Dr Diamond also co-founded Newmedica – the largest private provider of eyecare to the National Health Service (NHS) – and established the biggest group practice of eye surgeons in the UK. As such, he is well-placed to provide premier, high-quality care to his patients.

A committed medical researcher, Dr Diamond has authored over 50 research papers and textbook chapters and achieved a PhD in the field of ophthalmology research. His dedication to high-quality research has also helped him secure eleven research grants to fund future scientific research in the field.

Dr Diamond's breadth of ophthalmology experience and research output uniquely position him as a key opinion leader for best-practice care. As such, he frequently presents his latest findings at global conferences and provides training for doctors and ophthalmologists. Previously, Dr Diamond also ran the Master of Science (ophthalmology) course at the University of Bristol.

Dr Diamond is a dual Fellow of the Royal Australian and New Zealand College of Ophthalmologists (RANZCO) and the Royal College of Ophthalmologists (RCOphth), UK. He is also a member of the UK and Éire Glaucoma Society (UKEGS) and the European Glaucoma Society (EGS).
